

From: Carolyn Freeman
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/27/02 5:47pm
Subject: MICROSOFT SETTLEMENT

If the CEOs of the internet "competitive" companies would quit crying and create instead, there would be sufficient for everyone. I cannot understand how the government who is supposed to represent all citizens can consider tying the hands of one company and call it competition. So much for hard work and creative effort. Hopefully I will still have the right to spend my money as I see fit to buy the product(s) I choose at the market place. Make a good product at a good price, the public will purchase it. The offer made by Microsoft to supply schools, etc. is terrific - not only will the children benefit, the government can get out of business manipulation. Why is success always penalized!!!

Do You Yahoo!?
Great stuff seeking new owners in Yahoo! Auctions!
<http://auctions.yahoo.com>